

The people of Iran accomplished a great feat, carrying out a great task. In a world based on oppression, bullying and transgressions of major powers, in a world in which the weak were pressed by arrogant powers, an entity and identity emerged which rejected the unfair status quo, which is commonly called imperialism and we refer to as global arrogance. It was a prominent achievement, materialized courageously without any hesitation: Rejection of global arrogance which is based on an oppressor-oppressed dichotomy.
